

Conclusion:

In conclusion, I think Mercedes were very dominant during 2014-2020 and not because the other teams all performed badly. I believe it was a combination of Mercedes building a very fast car and having a strong set of drivers with very good strategy calls causing them to win all constructor's championships during this period

